METHODISTS PLAN SERIES OF CHURCHES

Extension Campaign Outlined at Conference.

NEW TEMPLE FOR BALTIMORE

Other Cities Will Also Have Expensive Edifices, if General Plans Materialize—Rev. Dr. F. E. Fultz Urges Necessity of Equipment to Keep Pace with Upbuilding of Church.

The new church to be built here at a cost of nearly $500,000 is only one of a series of temples of Methodism in the plan of church extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, according to Rev. Dr. F. E. Fultz, who presided over the Baltimore conference at its second meeting last night.

Baltimore is to have a new Methodist Episcopal church that will cost not less than $200,000, and if the general plans of the church extension committee are carried out, other cities will have similar buildings.

The second session of the annual conference was held at Mount Vernon Place Church. Every pew was crowded with delegates from Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, and the District. There were many late arrivals who are prominent among the clergy of the church.

Pastors Need Equipment.

Dr. Collins Denny, of the faculty of Vanderbilt University, urged strong indorsement of even the most ambitious plans for the extension of the church, declaring that pastors must have equipment before they can carry out their duties properly. He said church extension work promotes organization, and that as this is an age of organized industry, it is a most important branch of the duties of churchmen.

"If the church fails to keep pace with the material world," said Dr. Fultz, "especially in keeping up outward appearances—such as buildings and the salaries of the clergy—the church will lose its spiritual power."

"We must have equipment, and we must have things paid for, but, above all, the church must be kept up materially in the eyes of the world. The gospel ought to stand for something in dollars and cents. Religion is not free literally—it costs money, and it is worth it."

Church Stands First.

"Take a police department, for instance. It represents the other end of society. It cuts off the shores of society with the lance of the law. But the church is at the head, and if we are willing to pay vast sums for policemen, why should we not be equally willing to pay for our religion?"

"I reckon it won't be long before people can boast of a temple here in Washington that will be a satisfaction to those who dig down in their pockets for the cash to build it. And it will fairly radiate spiritual righteousness, and be a living, vivid influence for the upbuilding of the church and its good works."

The afternoon was spent entirely in committee meetings and the disposal of routine business. The reports of presiding elders of seven of the districts represented were received and filed, to be passed upon at a business session to-night.

Rev. F. J. Prettymann, of Washington, presented an encouraging report from the committee which is working on the big church to be built here, at the morning session. He said there is every probability the general conference will indorse the plans already made.

Baltimore Heads List.

Rev. Dr. W. F. McMurray, of Louisville, Ky., asserted the Baltimore Conference is in better working order than any other branch of the M. E. Church South. Giving his report as general secretary of the Church Extension Society, he said the Baltimore Conference heads the list with appropriations and donations for various branches of home and foreign missions.

A resolution was adopted laying down rules to be followed by foreign missionaries, the result of criticism of ministers of the gospel on duty in the Far East. It advises all missionaries to obey the letter of the laws of the country in which they are stationed.

A reception will be given visiting women by Mrs. Joseph Printup, 1324 Park road northwest, assisted by women of the Mount Pleasant M. E. Church, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Concert for Charity.

Ladies' Liberty Lodge, No. 19, I. O. S. E., last night gave its eleventh annual dance at the old Masonic Temple. The proceeds are to go to the Jewish charitable institutions in this city. The officers of the lodge are Sadie Levy, E. Klawans, R. L. Goldstein, J. Elstein, Amelia Freund, L. Steiner, F. Shoenthal, and W. M. Bornheim.

EDUCATORS OPEN CONVENTION TO-DAY

Members of Commercial Teachers' Association to See President Taft Saturday—An Exhibit of Up-to-date Business Appliances—Shorthand Speed Contests Attract Attention.

Members of the Eastern Commercial Teachers' Association will be formally welcomed to the city this afternoon by President William F. Stuart, superintendent of public schools, on the occasion of the opening of the thirteenth annual convention of the association at Business High School.

The session will be called to order at 2 o'clock by the president, E. H. Norman, of Baltimore, following a morning devoted to the registration of members and other preliminary details.

Questions of interest to educators will receive the consideration of the association, with free discussion on the part of all present. The sessions will continue for the remainder of the week, excepting Friday evening, when the annual banquet will be held at the Arlington. In order to permit members to attend a reception by President Taft at 10 o'clock, the Saturday morning session will not take place until later in the day.

An interesting feature will be an extensive exhibit of typewriting machines, adding machines, writer presses, business phonographs, and improved systems of accounting, bookkeeping, and shorthand.

Contest in Shorthand.

Much interest in the shorthand speed contests for the Miner medal is evident, judging from the number of those who have already entered for the contests scheduled for Saturday morning. ## PRINCETON TRIANGLE CLUB.

College Players Here To-day in "His Honor, the Sultan."

The Princeton Triangle Club gave its first public performance in Newark last night of "His Honor, the Sultan," a musical comedy, which is to be presented here this afternoon at the Belasco Theater and on consecutive days in Indianapolis, St. Louis, Chicago, and Pittsburgh.

The Newark Star, in speaking of the play, says: "The play has the swing of the professional product, and well merited the generous applause of the large Newark audience. Brown Rolston, '10, as the 'leading lady,' is graceful and feminine to just the right degree in his difficult role."

WOULD AMEND SMOKE LAW

Chamber of Commerce Will Be Asked to Take Such Action.

Body Will Also Consider Holding Celebration of Opening Panama Canal at the Capital.

The Chamber of Commerce will be asked by its committee on manufactures to inaugurate a campaign for the repeal of the District smoke law south of the Anacostia River, and in Georgetown, between M street and the river. The committee at its last meeting adopted a resolution favoring this action, and it is understood that it will be presented to the Chamber in connection with a report from the committee on the feasibility of establishing manufacturing plants here of a certain type, which would add to the productive capacity of the city, afford employment to those who live here, and increase the wealth and business activity of the city.

It is understood that one of the questions to be discussed by the directors of the Chamber at the next meeting will be a plan to bring the celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal to Washington, on the ground that the Capital is the logical and appropriate place to hold the national celebration of the completion of the canal. While considerable rivalry exists among the commercial cities of the country for the honor of holding this celebration, it is thought by prominent members of the Chamber that it would not be a hard thing to center public opinion upon the Capital as the right place for the event.

A meeting of the joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade will be held to-day at 12:30 o'clock to take up the details of the dinner to be tendered President Taft by the citizens of the District. It is understood that one or more of the subcommittees will submit reports, and that important matters will be up for consideration of the committee.
